WORRY AND INDIFFERENCE

★ Overanxiety, particularly about health, is a disease in itself. Physicians call it hypochondria. Those who "enjoy" ill health only make themselves and those about them miserable.

Opposed to chronic worry is complete indifference, to the point of disregard of common sense health rules and contempt for medical care.

Between these two absurd extremes lies the sane middle road. Petty, transient discomforts need not cause grave concern and frequent trips to the doctor. When symptoms persist or recur with annoying frequency, it is then time to seek professional assistance. Indifference under these circumstances only invites more serious trouble.

Throng Attends "Polio" Benefit; Need Stressed

Urgent appeals for the support of the March of Dimes drive, to aid infantile paralysis sufferers, were made by Bill Cunningham, state chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and others before a throng that filled the Robbins Town Hall Wednesday evening.

The successful benefit performance was organized by Mrs. Raymond McKeever, president of the Crosby School PTA, whose son, Tommy, was stricken by infantile paralysis and has since recovered as a result of the aid of the Foundation. Cooperating to make the affair a success was the Arlington PTA Council, headed by Mrs. John E. Stafford, and the Arlington Auxiliary Police.

William Sinclair, general chairman of the campaign in Arlington, presided and also introduced Marjorie Mills, the other speaker; Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Sydney Beggs of Lincoln, state adviser for women for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; Mrs. Robert W. Murphy, county chairman of the women's division, and Miss Bernice Holmes, chairman of the women's division in Arlington.

The fire started on the second floor of the two-family house at 133 Highland ave., owned by Mrs. Irene McNaughton. The first floor is occupied by Laurence Kelley and family.

The occupants of the second floor apartment were away when the fire broke out and it is believed to have been smoldering for some time when it was discovered by neighbors. Several telephone calls were received at fire headquarters, all about the same time.

The blaze started in a divan in the living room which was gutted. The sunporch was also heavily damaged while the rest of the apartment suffered smoke and water damage. Also damaged was a valuable piano.

Earlier in the evening, firemen responded to another alarm for a defective oil burner in the furnace at 50 Wright st. The house is owned by Rafael Abruzzese.

Highlights of the meeting were a short talk by Mrs. James A. A REVIEW OF THE YEAR '48 (With the Arlington Girl Scouts)

My report's a review of the year forty-eight, And it should help us all to evaluate.

So let's take a glance back through the year, You'll hardly believe all the things you will hear.

In January our meetings were numerous, And training began for leaders so new to us.

A gain in our membership this month was made When troop registrations to National were paid.

New Committees now formed had started ahead, And our Annual Report to the public was read.

With good Council Training—February began, Miss Campbell had been in our long-term plan.

She showed each committee how all jobs related, And brimming with knowledge we went home elated.

Our leadership course, and Arts and Crafts Class, And the Winter State Meeting, next came to pass.

Then the A. C. A. Conference and a Winter Sports Day, All these before February went on its way.

The month of March arrived in a gale, With plans under way for a big Cookie Sale.

And our Program Committee made uniforms bright For our Hospital Aides of all different heights.

An Outdoor Activities Course seemed the thing To offer our Leaders this first month of Spring;

While reunion arranged by our Junior Committee, Brought campers to Arlington from many a city.

The month of April was full to the brim With efforts on getting the Rally in trim.

And our Senior Girl Scouts were as busy as bees, Ushering at Carmen and serving at Teas.

Training continued to reach more and more, As new Brownie Leaders were trained by the score.

And an over-night trip—their camp license to win, Found eleven trained leaders—leaving their kin.

They slept in the Coop—and cooked out-of-doors, Sang round the campfire—and did many chores.

This climaxed the training for winter and spring, Now many more leaders know training's the thing.

We chose school vacation for our big Cookie Drive, And to reach all their quotas—each troop did strive.

From the tiniest Girl Scout—everyone worked, We couldn't have done it—had anyone shirked.

When we counted the money and paid the big bill, Our thousand dollar balance—gave us a thrill.

The Juliette Low Party brought pennies galore, It totalled eighty dollars—we never had more.

Registrations for camp—told us summer was coming, And requests for our slides kept the Camp Committee humming.

National's choice of Menotomy for the Camp Movie site, Was all that we needed to end the month right.

With May came rehearsals of dancing and singing, The making of properties and bright skirts for swinging.

Clothing kits finished were sent on their way, But we should have had more by the first day of May.

The Day Campers met for reunion and fun, And talked over plans for the summer to come.

Our ninth graders danced in their formal so gay, And chose a May Queen and her Court for the day.

At last came the night when the flags were unfurled, And five hundred Girl Scouts "Danced Round The World".

With parties and cook-outs—troops closed 'til the Fall, And a 'Camping Experience' was our wish for all.

Setting up Camp was our big job for June, Repairing and painting and getting in tune.

We changed all the plans for our pre-camp training, And prayed with the movie crew—there'd be no more raining.

Rehearsals and shootings and schedules and scripts, Were part of a program that taxed all our wits.

When the movie was over and the crew had departed, We settled right down and activities started.

Hiking and swimming and planning together, The campers were happy—whatever the weather.

Our Day Camping program was held at Blue Hills, And gave seventy-two campers many new thrills.

Back into stride—in the month of September, The Council and Leaders had a night they'll remember.

The Regional Conference was October's event, And fourteen adults from Arlington were sent.

Hospital Aide Training this month was begun, For interested Seniors who thought nursing fun.

The Community Chest campaigned in November, With help from our Council, they'll always remember.

More Brownie Training—a window display, Then a meeting in Concord for a whole day.

The Christmas Crafts course with ideas so new, Gave leaders a lift on what next to do.

Our membership figure reached 668, With new troops still forming at a great rate.

So our 36th year in December did close, Showing all the Committees right on their toes.

'United By Ideals' our theme for the year, Was a very fine goal toward which to steer.

Forum Attracts Over 150

Brookline Selectman Outlines Town Form of Government

Over 150 Arlington residents have already registered for the Town Government Forum which is being sponsored by the School Department, with sessions held at the Robbins Library Hall on Thursday evenings.

Daniel Tyler, Jr., chairman of the Brookline board of selectmen, was the speaker at the first session last Thursday evening. He spoke on the limited town meeting government, such as exists in Arlington, and how it functions.

Last evening, the speaker was Town Clerk James J. Golden, who outlined the organization of the government in Arlington, its elected and appointed officers and boards.

Next Thursday evening, Atty. John L. Murphy of the Board of Public Works will give a detailed account of the responsibility and authority of the Board of Selectmen, Board of Public Works and the Moderator.

Anyone interested in this forum which has been planned as a public service may register at the Robbins Library, according to Joseph J. Gaudet, head of the department of adult civic education of the School Department.

First Session
Following are excerpts from Mr. Tyler's address at the opening session:

There are in this country of ours about 16,000 local government units. New York City is the largest — Arlington is 248th.

My discussion of town meetings will be divided into three parts. First, the old conventional type of government — Dorchester was the first town in Massachusetts of this type (1633). On Monday mornings the drummer called the townsmen together to discuss town problems.

Later we find that in Charlestown they selected eleven men to represent the people (the forerunner of selectmen). In 1915 Brookline petitioned the legislature for a limited form of town meeting.

(This had a start in Newport, Rhode Island). A limited form of town meeting was adopted in 1915. In 1931 after the legislature had an opportunity to study the effects of the various limited forms of town meeting which were existent in the state, it passed Chapter 43A (the standard form of limited town meeting government). Since 1935 Arlington has had this type of town meeting. The Act says that the "town meeting shall be as nearly 240 members as can be had." The number 240 was chosen perhaps because the Massachusetts House of Representatives is 240 in number.

Following are some facts concerning the town meeting: A warrant is sent out telling where and when it is to be held and what is to be discussed. Ten signatures gets an article in for the regular annual town meeting, but it takes 100 signatures or 10% of the voters for a special town meeting. The Moderator is elected by the people and presides at the town meeting. The town meeting has the effect and power of the people themselves. The New England town meetings are the purest form of democracy there is. However, there is a point where democracy gets cumbersome and was drifted away from the old form of town meeting where everyone talked to discuss the town's business. The town meeting members are the legislative body of the town.

Some Weak Points

Some problems of the present form of town government: Many a man who would not run for election would be willing to serve if selected. We elect scores of different officials plus the town meeting members. At a special town meeting it is sometimes difficult to get a quorum. I believe the number of members should be smaller. In Falmouth there is one representative for every 116 voters. In Brookline there is one representative for every 116 voters. They can't both be right.

If one is going to accept the responsibility of representing the people he should assume it by being at the meetings. There should be some way of making them attend.

Incidentally, in town government today I haven't seen five cents' worth of corruption, but neither have I seen a penny's worth of economy.

Now the trend is toward the management type of government. Whether it would be good for Brookline or Arlington, I don't know. If there is a better way, I'm for that, but I would like people to make a study of the other kinds of government and after they get through studying they might think management would be good.

This forum idea on the education of the people on local government is a must for schools. You may get through life without a dentist or a doctor but you are governed from the moment you are born until you die. How much attention are you giving to those who govern you?

You cannot have a limited town meeting until you have a population of 6,000. From that to the Manager type or something of that kind is the trend now. It isn't here yet, but it seems to be coming. There are many things that we in New England can learn from the people outside of New England. The election of so many people is a barrier to the perfection of the limited form of town meeting.

Harvard Professor To Address Class at First Baptist Church

Rev. Nathan W. Wood presented a most interesting talk on the History of Palestine to 85 members of the Men's Class of the First Baptist Church last Sunday.

The meeting was in charge of President Herbert O. Alderson with Dr. Heber W. Youngken leading the devotions. John A. Iveser led the song service, assisted by Frank E. Locke, pianist.

An elaborate new roster board, prepared by George D. Webster and Richard Churchill, was presented to the Class by Walter Alsen, general membership chairman. He also announced a 10-week intra-class attendance contest between the Red, White and Blue divisions headed by Al Brown, Wally Gorton and Francis Turf. The contest begins next Sunday.

Harold E. Magnuson, chairman of the guest speakers committee, announced that Perry Gilbert Eddy Miller, Ph.D., Ph.D., professor of American Literature at Harvard University, prominent scholar, author and lecturer will address the class next Sunday.

—Lt. Col. Bernard A. Courtney, Army reserve officer, of 72 Hillside ave., was recently appointed commanding officer of the 341st Quartermasters' Battalion when that unit was activated by Headquarters of the First Army. Col. Courtney is a member of the high school faculty.

WHAT TYPE LEADERSHIP?

There seems to be considerable concern on the part of many of our local citizens about the tendency of our town meetings to become dominated by those with special interests to serve.

Some feel that this tendency seems to be manifest in the Citizens Committee activities and raises the question as to whether or not the average taxpayer is to have proper representation, or is the town to be controlled by those primarily interested in securing advantages for special groups.

Organizations designed to promote good government and select qualified candidates have often rendered worthwhile service to voters. On the other hand, their value has often been questioned by those who consider them political pressure groups that do not always serve the interests of the taxpayers as a whole.

In the final analysis each voter has the right to determine for himself for whom he shall vote and should carefully consider the qualifications of each candidate that seeks to have a part in government.

We can follow the lead of good government organizations as long as they demonstrate their fitness to conduct their affairs with due consideration for the common good of all. Any tendency to dictate, or control the selection of candidates without the fullest consideration of the welfare of every citizen and the logical development of good citizenship, should not be tolerated.

OUR MOUNTING TAX RATE

While we have no assurance at this time of just what projects will be included in the warrant for the annual town meeting, there is sufficient evidence to indicate that the projects will be of such magnitude as to substantially increase the local tax rate.

It is incumbent upon the people of Arlington, therefore, to see to it that the right type of citizens present themselves as candidates for principal town offices and for town meeting member. We call this to the attention of the people at this time because candidates must file their nomination papers by January 31. After that time, it will be too late for candidates to present themselves. It is up to those who wish the best possible government for the town of Arlington to take action during the coming week.

Recently a conference was held locally between a group of Boston bankers and a group of builders who were contemplating sponsoring an extensive housing project in Arlington. A local authority on housing expressed the belief that there is a strong possibility of the tax rate for the year 1949 reaching $55 per thousand (an increase of nearly $11 per thousand) if all the contemplated articles involving expenditures are included in the next town warrant and are passed at the coming town meeting.

This was brought out in discussion aimed at projecting the possible expenses which must necessarily be offset by rental revenue in housing developments of the type under consideration. In view of such a heavy tax burden the necessary rentals for the proposed development would become so high that plans have been temporarily suspended until a more auspicious time.

Incidents such as this should open our eyes as to where Arlington is heading. If the best qualified candidates are supported, there is greater assurance of keeping the tax rate increase down to a minimum.

Babson Discusses Tornadoes

(Exclusive to The NEWS)

AT WARREN, ARKANSAS, a few days ago occurred a tornado which is reported to have killed 59 persons and injured about 250 more. Every few months some such disaster occurs in the U. S. Most of them are in the southern center of the country, but every one of the 48 states has, at some time, one of these tornadoes. Therefore, this is a subject in which everyone should be interested.

Before discussing tornadoes, let me say a word about hurricanes. These originate on the ocean and can be prevented by "killing" them at their birth. For instance, the hurricanes which hit the South Atlantic States and Florida, and the Gulf States, start 2000 miles or more away, mostly east of the Leeward Islands and the Caribbean Sea. When they hit our Southeastern States, these hurricanes may have a diameter of 100 to 500 miles. This diameter varies with each hurricane, but can easily be measured in each case. We have been hit by about 150 major hurricanes since 1930. These have done tremendous damage.

If our Navy would patrol the waters, with small airplane carriers, where these hurricanes originate, they could easily be detected. As the aviator would come to a small area where the barometer suddenly drops to 28, he would know that this is a dangerous spot worth watching. It then might not be more than 2000 to 5000 feet or less than a mile in diameter at its birth. Authorities differ as to how they would kill it; but I say that it can be killed. They are most common in the fall months.

How Tornadoes Can Be Killed

Tornadoes originate on the land, due to "a dead warm spot" of very low pressure, overlaid by a cold high pressure heavy area, held down by gravity. Tornadoes come with less warning and at all times of the year. Often they have a diameter of only a few miles, and the core (which does the damage) may be only a fraction of a mile. Furthermore, they last for a much shorter time than do hurricanes. As tornadoes are more frequent than hurricanes, the nation's total annual loss from tornadoes can equal or exceed the total annual loss from hurricanes.

Scientists now see no way of preventing tornadoes because it takes them such a short time to develop nearby. Tornadoes appear to be born mature and do their damage almost at once. I, however, do believe that all loss of life from tornadoes can be prevented. The people in the tornado area can be notified in time with proper warnings. In other words, every community in the Southern Middle West should be protected with a tornado siren-alarm system. This cannot prevent the tornado or its accompanying property damage; but it can absolutely prevent loss of life. There is no excuse for the death and injury of so many people at Warren. The entire state of Arkansas could have been properly safeguarded against loss of life from tornadoes.

How To Detect Tornadoes

Every tornado has three features: (1) A very low barometer reading within a hot stagnant area, (2) a gradually increasing wind from five miles upwards to 300 to 500 miles per hour, (3) a dark colored column of rain, dirt, and other material. The fire or police station in every southwestern community should always be on the watch for these three signals. Upon seeing them, they should, by radio, immediately notify all surrounding territories. As each community gets the word, it should ring in a Gamewell siren alarm, which would give the proper warning to the inhabitants either to enter a cyclone cellar or to go out into the open and lie down. After the cloud has passed, an all-out signal should be given. Perhaps the tornado will have done much property damage, but in no case need any persons be killed or hurt.

We live in a wonderful country. It is rich in resources and opportunities. In this country, however, we are far too careless of human life. This applies to every community and in every department of life from needless auto accidents to needless fire losses. For reducing loss of life through automobile accidents, fires, etc., much has been done, but almost nothing has been done to prevent damage from hurricanes and tornadoes. This is the next step facing every city and town. Let us hope that everyone reading this column may realize the danger facing his community and insist that something be done to prevent it.

The NEWS OBSERVES

Those Arlington residents who have been complaining that Arlington has parking meters while Belmont's two shopping centers have no meters may be interested to learn that meters are to be installed in the neighboring community also. There is no question but what the movement for meters is gaining impetus for the purpose of giving every shopper a break.

Swiss post cards, in beautiful floral designs, in color, are just one of the many new items now obtainable at the Treasure Chest, opposite the town hall. The ladies will also be interested in the special hostess sale now in progress at this shop.

To expedite shopping, the A & P in Arlington Centre, has inaugurated an "express" checkout counter so that if you happen to want only a few items, you may pick them up and pay for them without waiting in a long line.

Wonder if the same idea will ever catch on in the Postoffice Department?

The Saturday Evening Post in this week's issue explains the reason behind the success of President Truman and other Democratic candidates in the last election. And, Arlingtonians will be interested to read the comment on the Democratic swing in their own community. It's one of those rare occasions where Arlington has been mentioned in a national magazine.

A sand box placed by the public works department on Park ave. near the Locke School was tipped over this week. This sand was placed there for the convenience of the public in case of ice conditions. If the box was tipped over deliberately, the brazen person responsible had very little to do.

A group of East Arlington residents are presently formulating plans to organize a civic improvement organization for that section of the town. It is planned to cover the entire area from the Mystic Valley Parkway to Arlington Center. Plans for the first meeting are being completed.

Which brings to mind that the stay-at-homes in Arlington have been enjoying a most unusual streak of weather which comes close to approximate that of the sunny Florida. Seven Candidates Seek Election
To Arlington Housing Authority

Seven candidates, including four members of the existing board, have announced their candidacy for election to the Arlington Housing Authority in the town election next March.

Originally, when the board was first set up for the purpose of providing housing for veterans and their families, four members were appointed by the Selectmen and a fifth by the State Housing Board, according to law. The local appointees must now be elected by the voters at large, according to the statute. The candidate receiving the highest vote will serve for five years, the next highest for four years, etc.

The present board has already selected a site and approved architects' plans for more than 100 housing units of brick construction. Its members who will seek election are W. Dale Barker, Myron Chase, Hans Toblason and Harold E. Magnuson.

Others who have taken out papers as candidates for the Housing Authority are Edward J. Doherty, A. Lee Morris and Joseph Vahey.

Savings Bonds
Drive Headed
By Publisher

Arthur J. Mansfield, publisher of the Arlington News, has been appointed chairman of the Arlington U. S. Savings Bonds Committee, according to an announcement made today by the Massachusetts Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Department.

Mr. Mansfield has long been prominently identified with many worthwhile civic activities, and has continued uninterruptedly his efforts to encourage the sale of Savings Bonds in Arlington and the surrounding localities.

The Savings Bonds sales program is designed to insure widespread distribution of the national debt, and at the same time provide funds which the Treasury can use in retiring bank-held debt.

Mr. Mansfield said today that there is no better way for individuals to protect their future security, while at the same time helping in the demonstration of American unity in fighting opposing philosophies.

Gibson Refrigerator
Plans Vast Program

A $60 million production is planned by Gibson Refrigerator Co. for 1949. Charles J. Gibson, president, said this year's program calls for more than a half-million refrigerators, ranges and home freezers. This year's sales are estimated at about $50 million.

To meet the increased demand for the company's appliances, a $10 million expansion project is nearing completion at the company's various plants. Mr. Gibson said. He added that the 1949 program is made possible only after a three year campaign to line up supplies of steel and other critical materials.

Man Convicted of Assault
On East Arlington GirlFeast of Lights
Pageant Is Held

The young people of Saint John's Episcopal Church presented their annual Feast of Lights pageant on Sunday evening before a well-attended congregation.

Participating in the Nativity tableau were Theima Whitman as Mary and Robert Barnes as Joseph; the three shepherds, Ann Washburn, Gail Townsend and Fred Roberts; the three wise men, Richard Keene, Donald Lundquist, and Ted Okerlund.

The Biblical passages read by Everett Ellis introduced the various characters of the tableau. The parts of the 12 Apostles were taken by Sam Robinson, Barbara Clifford, Nancy Pollard, Eileen Robinson, Janet Richards, Pat Johnston, Jeanne Flux, Barbara Duncan, Barbara Holmstead, Janemarie McKelvie, Ann Morrill and Betty Pollard.

Helene Burke appeared as St. Matthias, Louise Peck as St. Paul and Charlotte Mugford as St. Augustine.

Following the benediction given by Rev. Halsey I. Andrews, the acolytes, Clark Ginder, Kenneth King, Stanton Hamlet and John Gunnerson passed down the aisles. At each pew they paused to light the candles which had been given each member of the congregation, symbolizing the spread of light.

The choir, under the direction of Louis T. Phelps, provided a beautiful musical background for the pageant.

The ushers were Robert Jefferson, Richard Yeames and Robert Tagell.

Costuming was under the supervision of Mrs. Everett Ellis, Mrs. Robert Jefferson, Mrs. Ralph G. Penton and Miss Barbara Whitman.

Francis J. Gallagher, 21, of 8 George st., Cambridge was convicted on Wednesday of assault with intent to rape an East Arlington girl seven weeks ago. The case was heard by the Middlesex Superior Court.

The victim of the assault identified Gallagher, as did a soldier, living in Cambridge who said he talked with Gallagher on a street-car which was coming out from Harvard square in the early morning hours of Dec. 3. Gallagher allegedly followed the girl when she left the street-car on her way home and knocked her down as she walked up the driveway to her home. He was scared away by her screams.

Police picked up Gallagher later in Cambridge.

Officer Frank P. McLaughlin of the Cambridge police, "deserves a great big hand for his keen piece of police work in this case, for if he had not been on the ball Gallagher would still be strolling our streets," an East Arlington man told the NEWS. Arlington inspectors assisted in the investigation leading to the arrest.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST
"Truth" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, January 23. Golden Text: "Thou, O Lord, art a God full of compassion, and gracious, long-suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth" (Psalms 86:15).
Sermon: Passages from the Bible (King James Version) include: "And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath. And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen year, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God" (Luke 13:10-13).
—Edward Davies, USN, spent 10 days during the holiday season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davies of 27a Appleton st., after returning from North Atlantic maneuvers off Labrador.

Philharmonic Concert Next Event In PTA Council Fine Arts Series

For the second consecutive year, the Arlington Council of the Parent-Teacher Associations will have the cooperation of the Arlington Philharmonic orchestra and chorus, and will present two programs at Robbins Memorial Town Hall, on Saturday evening, Feb. 5 at 7:30 and on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 6 at 3:00, with Leo Litwin as musical commentator and conductor.

Mr. Litwin will describe the different instruments of the orchestra to the school children, with illustrations by the various members of the orchestra, and will conduct the complete program, which includes orchestral and choral selections, together with a harp concerto. Fourteen-year-old Miss Renee Canzanelli, a sophomore at Arlington High School, will give one of the very few performances known hereabouts of the DuBois Fantasy for harp and orchestra. This unusual work will be given its first performance in Arlington for the benefit of the audience of young people. Miss Canzanelli will also demonstrate the component parts of the harp, so that the youthful listeners will know how the various effects are obtained.

Also included in this program, which since its inception last year has been widely copied by other PTA units, will be the Triumphant March from the opera "Aida" (of which the Philharmonic plans to present a condensation later in the season), and the Peer Gynt Suite of Edward Grieg. The composer, Brahms will be represented by three of his Liebeslieder Waltzes for chorus and two pianos, while the American folk song "Skip to My Lou" will be sung by the entire chorus, assisted by a group of dancers from the Arlington Girl Scouts. "Finlandia," by the great Nordic composer, Sibelius, will be performed by the full orchestra and chorus to conclude the program.

The music department of the Arlington schools has cooperated in assisting the Parent-Teacher Associations Council to bring to the children of Arlington a greater comprehension of the structure of orchestral and choral concerts.

Welfare Agent

A native of Berlin, Massachusetts, Mr. Morse was graduated from Amherst College in 1914. In December, 1935, he was appointed investigator by the Lexington board of public welfare and in September, 1939, he became welfare agent in that town.

In July, 1943, he transferred to the State Department of Public Welfare and has been in that department as a field supervisor ever since.

His transfer from the State position to the new Arlington post was made with the approval of the State Civil Service Commission. The Board of Selectmen screened a number of applicants before selecting Mr. Morse as a state field supervisor. He has been in charge of a district which includes Arlington and therefore he knows the personnel of the local department as well as its operation. In view of his experience, the Selectmen felt that he was the best qualified for the appointment.

Mr. Cook resigned his Arlington position to take a similar job at a higher salary in Brookline.

Polio Benefit

Mrs. McKeever thanked all who helped make the benefit a success and introduced the musical program which opened with a concert by the Arlington High School Band.

Soloists were Carl E. Wallquist, bass, who sang "America," and Francis Fabry, gifted young violinist, who was accompanied by Miss Carol Lee Sandler, well-known Arlington pianist. Mr. Fabry's "Meditation from Thaïs" thrilled the large audience and he was enthusiastically applauded.

Chairman Sinclair brought out that the 1948 epidemic of infantile paralysis had proven that the National Foundation has not enough money to carry on its work. Its reserve fund of four million has been wiped out. A total of $67,000 has been sent to the epidemic area for direct medical care alone. At present there are over 3000 cases in Los Angeles alone. In our own county, we have been more fortunate, he said. Yet, Arlington has 26 active cases which are given treatment at a weekly clinic.

He praised the auxiliary police for their work on this drive and the AYA boys who will do follow up work by collecting coin containers that have not been returned by the end of next week.

Miss Mills told the audience she had been in California only a few weeks ago and had witnessed the work being done out there where, she said, the people are still terrified by the epidemic of infantile paralysis.

Bill Cunningham urged his listeners to attend the meetings of the local chapters of the National Foundation, to visit the Cambridge office, to ask questions. It is not a closed corporation, he stressed.
